

STHLMNYC

INVITATION

Dear sthlmnyc | friend,

For four years, sthlmnyc brings people together to learn, to discuss and to collaborate to influence the future of our cities. Since the inaugural event in 2014, sthlmnyc has been at the forefront of the architectural debate and managed to establish bridges regardless distance.

We are proud to invite you to the 5th sthlmnyc | conversation to take place in New York City, October 23 – 25, 2018*.

This year we invite you to become a partner of sthlmnyc. As a partner you have direct access to the sthlmnyc network - meeting people, sharing knowledge and inspiration. The opportunities, benefits and application form can be found in the end of this document.

Through experiences from previous events, interviews with our partners and an online survey, we are looking forward to a successful sthlmnyc | conversation in New York City for all our sthlmnyc | friends.

Join us to shape the future!

STHLMNYC

THEME 2018

ARCHITECTURE = DESIGN

the power of architectural design to improve our daily living environment

Architecture is design. And architectural design gives shape to our daily living environment holding the ability to improve our daily life and maybe even the world.

Today architecture is much broader than only the art and practice of designing and constructing buildings. It is an interdisciplinary practice that takes upon contemporary environmental, economic and social challenges while embracing innovative technologies to find, develop and realize new solutions. But architecture still is, above all, a design practice.

“I think we can change the world, at least our daily living environment. That architecture, form and design contributes to the long-term perspective’s solutions, is for sure.” – Christer Larsson, chief urban design Malmö and board member sthlmnyc

During the sthlmnyc | conversation in 2018 we want to discuss the power of architectural design to give shape to our daily living environment and by doing so improve our daily life. We will explore the ability of a designed living environment to take upon the utmost pressing challenges in our cities.

- How can architectural design of the living environment be a tool to reduce segregation, inequality and pollution and improve health, inclusiveness and equity?
- How can the common admiration and appreciation for the beauty of nature inspire the designed living environment to ensure improved health and well-being?

We believe architecture holds the power of design and design has the power to change the world.
